履修にあたっての注意・助言他
Learning English requires continuous effort and study - it is important to develop a regular study habit. In addition, attending classes is essential, so ensure you make an effort to not be late for or absent from classes. This course requires active student participation. Frequent dialogue activities with instructors and other students will help you learn English. Classes are conducted in English only - Japanese is prohibited. As the degree of participation during class is evaluated and graded, it is important to make every effort to speak up and actively participate during practice activities.
